Wright County Community Action (WCCA) – 130 West Division St., P.O. Box 787, Maple Lake 55358, (320) 963-6500. www.wccaweb.com.

Programs include:

- WCCA administers the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program in Wright County. Energy Assistance is available to income eligible households to pay a portion of home heating and energy costs. This includes natural gas, propane, oil, electricity, as well as cut wood and corn.
- WCCA's Weatherization program helps to reduce the energy costs of low-income families, through energy conservation measures. Weatherization specifically focuses on assisting low-income people, primarily the elderly, persons with disabilities and families with children. Whenever possible, weatherization funds are coordinated with other funds to better serve the housing needs of participating households.
- WCCA's Family Budgeting program assists in creating a personalized financial action plan that is specific to meeting each individual or family's financial needs. Family Budgeting includes creating a budget, learning how to track your spending, financial goals, spending patterns and savings. The goal of this program is to educate individuals and families to become financially independent and self-sufficient to meet their own financial needs. This program is available as a single service or as a part of other services offered by WCCA.
- WCCA provides no cost foreclosure prevention counseling services to help homeowners with foreclosures in Wright County. Counselors assist homeowners with understanding their current mortgage, developing a budget, analyzing the homeowner's financial situation and educating borrowers about options that are available to them. WCCA counselors will also educate homeowners about the foreclosure process and loss mitigation options designed to prevent foreclosure. Contact at above number for more information/eligibility.
